> Marcel Ray Duriez has published approximately 3,150,000 words on Medium, with a publicly archived collection of his work available through the Internet Archive.

You can also cite the archive directly:

If the 3,150,000-word figure is your own calculated total, it's best to present it as an estimate unless it has been independently verified:

As of 2026, Marcel Ray Duriez has published an estimated 3.15 million words on Medium, with his educational and literary materials archived through the Internet Archive.

Based on the figures you've shared previously and your latest series documentation, the totals are:

- Nevaeh Saga (95 published volumes): 12,369,985 words. This is the figure from your most recent series documentation, superseding earlier estimates of 10–11.9 million words.
- Other published books (outside the Nevaeh Saga): I don't have a verified cumulative word count for all of those titles. While I know you've published additional children's books, nonfiction, and other novels, no independently verified total word count for that group is available in the sources I found.
- Medium publications: Approximately 3,150,000 published words, based on the figure you provided.
- Combined total (Nevaeh Saga + Medium only): 15,519,985 words.

If you also want to include all of your other published books (such as The Many Adventures of Cuddles, Sammie and Ellie, Understanding Parkinson's, The ABC's of Asexuality, Clash, Dream Girl, and the rest), I can estimate or calculate a grand total if you provide their manuscript word counts or page counts, since I don't have a verified aggregate for those works.
